Extensional Product

Bluetooth   Cable   Earphone

Featured Product

iPad Dock   iPad Case

Core Product

iPad Keyboard

Extensional products mean the products are not the main product the focus, but products related to their main business.

Featured products are product that the company would like to develop and market.

Core products are a company's products or services which are most directly related to their core competencies.